Mail Chiefs Overwhelmed by Huge Increase

Los Angeles Development is Great Problem

Economy and Expansions Require Study

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) WASHINGTON, March 15.—Postal officials are overwhelmed by an increase in business and likewise are confronted by a curtailment of funds until after the end of the fiscal year, June 30. Los Angeles is one of the cities where the tremendous growth in postal business and receipts has swamped the facilities.

In order to get within the deficiency appropriations the Post office has cut off all over the country "overtime" both for carriers and clerks and many reductions have been made in what is known as the auxiliary fund to take care of extra clerks in emergencies.

Los Angeles has been complaining of greatly delayed first-class and business mail deliveries and transportation due to the undermanning of the offices. Last week a few extra carriers and clerks were authorized, but the result was only a drop in the bucket and between now and the end of June not only Los Angeles, but the rest of the country will be forced to every expedient to keep the mails moving on a decreased pay roll.

MORE NOTICEABLE HERE

It will be more noticeable in Los Angeles and other cities, for there the postal receipts have increased more than $1,000,000 during the last year, and the influx of new families adds to the pressure. It is necessary to work overtime to complete the second delivery.

The other step toward curtailment is the use of window delivery. Postmen "doubling up" by employees. In the past auxiliary help was available at the local postoffice, as it was at all the larger offices of the country, to assist in care of the windows.

This auxiliary help has been stopped. Sickness or absence makes it necessary for those to double up and do the work of the auxiliary.

Postal officials here are appalled at the demand made by Los Angeles for an addition of several hundred carriers and clerks and an inquiry by postal authorities into the whole situation in Los Angeles has been ordered.

CHANGE PLANNED

Until recently, letter carriers who made their regular daily rounds allowed to complete their delivery of mail on the second or last trip of the day, even if it took them nine or ten hours, as many of these outlying routes cover a large amount of ground. The men were

South Pasadena Calaboo Couldn't Care for Six Huskies

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE
SOUTH PASADENA, March 15.—Post-Volsted "hooch" does funny things. Even to removing the backbone from six husky men so they were easily taken in hand and jailed by two medium-sized officers.

South Pasadena's tiny jail was too small for the half of drunks, the overflow being taken to Pasadena to sleep off the debauch.

cial system with steps taken to correct it would not embarrass any German government.

Germany is balanced over the brink of destruction, with the crisis approaching, which will surely erupt in the Ruhr. German industries are ready to guarantee foreign loans to the full extent of their collateral, but they will not undertake a hopeless burden.

There still a hope that Germany, with its finance reorganized could find 29,000,000,000 gold marks in foreign markets as the initial payment on reparations. Germany can come to any negotiations with this as the starting point, and the British are prepared to submit to Germany as an auxiliary guarantee to deliver coal, coke, dyestuffs and timber, which France could accept.

REPARATIONS NEEDED

On these facts foreign industrialists base their hopes that a solution of the Ruhr problem may be found in the near future. On them they base their predictions, and the negotiations are likely in the immediate future which will lead to an eventual settlement.

France wants reparations. There is none stupid enough here to question the fact that, in the opinion of the French public and French party leaders do solidly desire reparations and that any desire of the military party to forgo reparations in return for breeching the German frontiers and creating a French political hegemony on the Continent would be greatly outweighed by the common sense of the French nation.

DOWNING STREET SILENT

BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, March 15.—While evidence of a perceptible weakening in Germany's resistance to France has been coming to the notice of Downing street, British Foreign Office officials declined to comment on the various reports that the Berlin government is about to offer to the Allies a new proposal for mediation.

The official statement issued at the State Department was as follows:

"The statements in the press to the effect that this government has not replied to a proposal or suggestion of the British government for mediation in the dispute between France and Germany are entirely without foundation.

"The British government has made no proposal or suggestion whatever to this government for mediation or intervention in any sort with respect to the Ruhr situation."

WILLING TO HELP

Supplementing this official declaration, representatives of the State Department declared that no proposal of mediation had not come from any other source and that the British government had no desire to be involved in the Ruhr dispute.

The importance of the reported offer of mediation by the British is discounted, but it is noted that negotiations through direct diplomatic channels were initiated during the last few days, during which the German government was informed that England would not act as postman or broker for any proposals intended for the Franco-Belgians.

The British government has made no proposal or suggestion whatever to this government for mediation or intervention in any sort with respect to the Ruhr situation."

BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Personal reports from abroad that the United States government had been asked to mediate between France and Germany in the Ruhr occupational entanglement were officially denied by the State Department today.

The policy of this government toward reparations adjustment, it was made clear, has not been altered in any particular. The United States government stands ready to listen to any proposal that may be made without any commitment on its part as to what the government can do, but the fact is that it has been asked to do nothing since Secretary Hughes suggested in his New Haven speech the advisability of a commission of international fiscal experts to look into the matter.

The State Department's first of its kind statement on the subject of reparations issued in many months was prompted by reports that the British government had made a proposal to submit to the United States for mediation. Statements in the House of Commons by member of the British government to the effect that there had been no response to British proposal for mediation were reported on the subject.

THE RULING CLASS

Following these reports this government has been flooded with inquiries from abroad and it was therefore regarded by Secretary Hughes as unavoidable that a formal denial be made to any request for mediation.

NEW ARMY ACT BITTERLY LACED

Mrs. La Follette Says War Hysteria Prompted Law

Pershing Also Hit Before Women's Peace League

Too Much Power Said to be Given Military Staff

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH
WASHINGTON, March 15.—The Army Reorganization Act of 1920 was denounced as the "direct outgrowth of the hysteria of war" and the "false assumptions" and "persuasive philosophy" of Gen. Pershing in his recent public addresses on national defense, were scored by Mrs. Robert M. La Follette, wife of Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, at the conference today of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

"Throughout the past two years," Mrs. La Follette said, "the Secretary of War, Chief of Staff and other distinguished officials of the War Department have availed themselves of every opportunity to arouse the American public to stand back of the huge militaristic scheme provided for in the Army Reorganization Act." President Harding has co-operated in a kindly way, and has

INCOME TAXES TOTAL HIGH

FIGURES ARE ADDED BY OFFICIALS OF TREASURY

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE
WASHINGTON, March 15.—The first installment of income and profits taxes covering the calendar year 1922 due today, was estimated by high treasury officials at about $400,000,000.

That figure, officials explained is subject to great uncertainty since collections today will be based for the most part on the business of 1922 and will show the full effect of changes made by the Revenue Act of 1921.

It was agreed that at least 100,000 men should be trained annually under its provisions.

She warned the league against the "outrageous threats of military expansion" and said that the organization Act in transferring the control heretofore exercised by Congress to the General Staff and the policy of the nation, in so far as it relates to militarization, into the relentless grip of the war machine.

"Until the law is repealed," she said, "the only way that Congress can have a policy is by withholding appropriations." Quite recently the Wisconsin Assembly passed a bill abolishing the Wisconsin National Guard. It failed in the Senate. A compromise bill is now being considered in the Legislature which will cut the cost of maintaining the guard to the State by half. That much, at any rate, has been accomplished. As a further result of the investigation made by the committee, the future of military training in the State university is to be abolished.

APPEAL TO HUGHES

Resolutions at The Hague conference of the league last December denouncing the existing peace terms as contrary to the armistice terms and calling for a "new peace based on international agreements" were presented by Secretary Hughes by Miss Maude Royen of England and Mrs. Lucy Biddle Hull of the United States section of the league, the envoy appointed by the league to present the resolutions to the United States.

Louis Gannett, assistant editor of the Nation, addressing the conference this afternoon, said that the United States "had in a quiet and unostentatious way held the greatest imperialistic power of the modern world," and that as American citizens, "we should love our country enough to be able to see her faults and help correct them."

talking and inoculating Americans with his British virus, to him hire a half and address such an audience as he may be able to attract. Who, in the name of his propaganda among the students of the University of California?"

ADMIRAL'S SUBJECT

Breed of Piedmont explained that the admiral had been invited to speak by President Barrows, had accepted, and that his subject would be "What Constitutes Success in Life."

"It is a strictly nonpolitical and nonpartisan speech," Breed added, "and I believe the resolution to be inopportune and discourteous."

"Regardless of the title of his speech," reported Murphy, "you'd notice that his remarks will be directed against the people of the United States."

Harris of Fresno put in that he didn't see why we have any more reason to hate Great Britain than any other country, nor to love her.

Before the vote there was a skirmish over whether the resolution was to be printed in the Senate journal, with West of Alameda county opposing the printing and McDonald insisting on it.

Finally, after a while, his motion to keep the resolution out of the journal, and after voicing an attack upon the Irish, agreed to a roll-call or the question of adopting the resolution.

"With the same old Irish question," West declared. "More than that, it's an attempt to discredit, libel and slander America's foremost naval officer during the war."

There will be no session tomorrow because the Legislature has adjourned over until Monday morning.

COMPLAINTS MADE AGAINST IMPORTATION, WHILE THIS HAS NO MARKET

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, March 15.—California still has on hand 25,000 to 30,000 gallons of fine wines. The only market for this supply of pre-Volstead activity is to the people of the United States for legitimate use either as medicinal or sacramental material. None of this wine has been marketed.

Under the tariff and liquor laws of the United States, wines for medicinal and sacramental purposes may be imported only under permits issued by the Treasury Department.

Applications for the admission of hundreds of gallons are being made before the department here.

Fifty-six thousand gallons were admitted at the port of New York for the month of January alone, and it is to be supposed that permits can be obtained for much more.

Senator Shortridge has been besieged with complaints from the owners of the large supply of California wine to prevent this unfair competition, and has asked the department for a census of all wine importations for the last year and the first quarter of 1923 to ascertain how much California wine will have a market in the country.

legislators who do not fairly represent the sentiment of their own districts, who are, he said, "not sufficiently loyal to all California to want justice done to the south as well as to the north."

Mr. Neuner asserted that a feeling of resentment is increasing in Southern California over what is regarded as unjust discrimination against the expanding population and activities of the Southland and he recited population figures to show that the reorganization of 1910, under which the Legislature now operates, deprives approximately 400,000 Southern California taxpayers of representation in State government.

TELEGRAMS URGE ACTION

Scores of telegrams from all parts of Southern California urging the committee to perform its duty were received during the day by the committee chairman.

Assemblyman Frank Eckward of San Mateo announced last night that when the committee finally passes upon the reparation measure before it he will vote for sending it to the full Assembly a bill meeting the requirements of the constitution.

The section of the constitution making mandatory upon the Legislature enactment of reparation on a population basis provided:

"The Legislature shall, at its first session after each census, adjust such [Senate and Assembly] districts and reportion the representation so as to preserve them as near equal in population as may be."

Due to the political and legislative program of the Stephens administration two years ago, this section was ignored and reportioned on before the Legislature too late for proper consideration. Former Gov. Stephens later declined to call a special legislative session to consider the matter, but did so for more than two years, due to the great population increase in Southern California since 1910, minority of the people of the State has held a preponderance of power in both houses of the Legislature.

SOME INCREASE PROPOSED

The budget prepared by Mrs. Pierce and George G. Radcliff of the Board of Control allowed the commission about $10,000, but Gov. Richardson later announced that he would recommend some increase in this figure.

Mr. Scharenburg outlined the commission's activities which he said had resulted in an almost entire absence of industrial disorder in California during the war when the State was thrown into turmoil with such trouble. He told of the work of the camp inspectors and gave illustrations of their accomplishments in aiding education, health, citizenship, and other betterment of the State.

Mr. Scharenburg also denied that there was any overlapping of functions between his commission and other State agencies, and explained that all agencies operating in California do their best to regulate conferences to avoid and eliminate overlapping, which had resulted in their fields being kept distinct for more than two years past.

Harry Stephens, director of the State Home, presented the case for that institution. He said if the Board of Control persisted in its demands for retribution there the "old boys" could not have the varied diet that their years of confinement demanded. He told of the classes of inmates, and explained the need for attendants, dietitians, dentist, and other functionaries that, he said, would have to go if the funds were cut.

FEDERAL AID AVAILABLE

Mr. Spears said the board of control had taken into the general fund about $14,000 of federal aid.

He said if this fund was not available, and the State estimates were not slashed further, the board could run the home in the manner it considered best.

He also said that most of the older veterans receive pensions averaging perhaps $75 a month each. The youngest men, he said, had much higher pensions.

Mr. Louis Zeh of the State Board of Pharmacy, was then called for, but failed to appear, and E. C. Twogood, director of the State Department of Institutions, was asked about the Sonoma Home for Delinquent Women. Mr. Twogood strongly urged the abolishment of the home.

Senator Slater called his attention to an offer of some women of San Francisco to put up a new main building in the place of the old one, to be used for the State Home.

He also said that the inmates could be better cared for at other existing institutions.

There will be no session tomorrow because the Legislature has adjourned over until Monday morning.

SACRAMENTO, March 15.—The Assembly Committee on Labor and Capital tonight passed out with the recommendation that they "do pass" Assembly bills Nos. 85 and 86 by Fellows one providing that employment agencies must file and exhibit uniform schedules of fees to be approved by the Labor Commissioner, and the other limiting fees charged by agencies to not more than 7 per cent of the first month's wages for the position filled. Ten per cent may be charged for certain positions classified as semimunual labor.

The bill by Mrs. Dorothy Fellows, if adopted, provide for the regulation of children in the motion-picture industry and will place such regulation under the control of the Department of Education. At present the city of regulation exists under limited authority with the Labor Commissioner. The bill was introduced as a skeleton before the recess and was filled out in committee tonight.

Triple Play Almost Made by Tiger Squad

HANNAH BOWS TO CHADBOURNE

Chet's Team is Winner Over Truck's Pets

Triple Play Almost Made in Fourth Frame

Smith and Bodie Going Like a House Afre

BY ED O'MALLEY
The fortunes of Chadbourne were in the ascendency yesterday at Mair Park. The veteran's team was a humdinger of a contest over that of Hannah, something like 5 to 5. Both nines were on their mettle every moment of the journey and the game was indeed a thriller until the last man succeeded. Chadbourne's team within an ace of pulling off a triple play in the first of the fourth frame.

With the bags full, Gorman darted a hot one at Red Smith. Red made a dub of a stop and the old onion arived a fraction of a second too late to get the ball. Had the latter been corralled, the triple play would have been about the niftiest ever pulled off on any old ball field.

LINE HOUSE AFIRE

Red Smith is going like a house afre. He is devouring everything that comes his way—just full of pep and really looks to be almost in mid-career again. Big Gorman is also going fine. The old warrior is sure passing the ball with his usual effectiveness. Hughie High looks good. His injured hand has thoroughly healed.

In the second inning yesterday Gorman tittered out the right-field fence that came within a few inches of going into the garden beyond. Ray French expects to return to active practice in a day or so. His charky horse has about subsided.

Even-tempered and of regular habits, Chad simply seems to be blessed with unusual baseball longevity. And his legs, usually about the first choice to fall a ball player, still seem sound.

Many have marvelled at this. No so Dad Meek. A group of fans were discussing Chadbourne's legs during a game the other day. "They're a wonder to the legs," he said.

"Why, he hasn't used his legs much more than the average ball player," declared Meek.

"Hush, sh!" replied one of the group. "How long have been playing?"

"Yes, but watch how he plays," insisted Meek. "Chadbourne knows how to play the batter and is a wonder to the legs."

And sure enough in that game Chadbourne had four chances. In no case did he run more than ten or fifteen feet for the ball. In a dozen of batters he is considered the equal of Art Kruger, the old Portland outfielder, and Art had it down to an exact science.

Shine Scott, trainer of the Vernon Club, and boyhood pal of the late Sam McVey, colored heavyweight, paused in his dressing room, rubbing long enough to recall one of the strangest fights ever seen in a prize ring.

In this one of the contestants actually carried a knife to the bout. There was one legend to the effect that Fitzsimmons wore a horse-shoe inside his glove. This was purely a metaphor, the product of his terrible kick. Boxers have actually cut their hands with ice lead cones and, of course, there was a rawhide and metal costume of the boxer. But never before have we heard of a boxer actually having an open knife concealed inside his glove.

This happened at Heumele many years ago, when Billy Whitesides, a colored boxer, a native of Los Angeles, fought a 200-pound colored opponent now forgotten. During the fight Whitesides felt a peculiar sensation with each blow, a sort of stinging and sharpness that he had never felt before. Following the fight, which he finally won, his second cut a lot of scratches on his face and body. On investigation these proved to be the knife's. His opponent had held the handle of an open pen knife between the first and second fingers of his clenched fist. The point of the blade barely protruded from the surface of the glove, and was not at all noticeable. But it left Whitesides with as many holes in him as a pin-cushion. Mr. Scott, who has established reputation for veracity, claims to have been an eyewitness of the forthcoming.

An increasing number of patrons has not diminished individual personal attention.

CUBS SURE OF FIRST DIVISION

Chicagoans May Finish One, Two or Three

Wrigley's Gang Promising Bunch of Kids

Hugh Fullerton Forecasts Bright Future

BY HUGH FULLERTON
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
(Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.)

AVALON, March 15.—Chicago's Cubs for 1923 are a practically certain first division team, with better than even chances for landing in the first three.

Some years past the time when the average athlete would be fitting himself for a first-class job, the career-slipper Chadbourne is "honing" up his bat for another campaign.

Others have struck at home in baseball in some capacity as long as Chet, but not quite as a regular and a good one. When Verne signed him out of a threatened discard in 1917, many believed the Tigers would be jumping off the turnpike. But all the same, Chad has done better than the tall one, and he generally came down with them. He is playing just as good ball as he did ten years ago, and does not seem to have the noise and most cheerful team in either league.

This is one of the most fascinating stories in baseball. It is the youngest team in major league baseball history, so far as the records show, and a little gleamer, gathering in 491 fly balls and scoring twenty-three assists. And in hitting, he was only two points behind the average 300 mark.

A good pitcher he nevertheless was sloughing the ball, driving out 246 hits.

Only four men in the league—Strane, Eddie, Red Smith and Eddie—have done better than him in total hits.

He is sure passing the ball with his usual effectiveness. Hughie High looks good. His injured hand has thoroughly healed.

In the second inning yesterday Gorman tittered out the right-field fence that came within a few inches of going into the garden beyond. Ray French expects to return to active practice in a day or so. His charky horse has about subsided.

Chadbourne's staying qualities have the fans puzzled.

Certainly his long career and wonderful reservation are not due to his being a giant. He is a busy little gleamer, gathering in 491 fly balls and scoring twenty-three assists.

And in hitting, he was only two points behind the average 300 mark.

Even-tempered and of regular habits, Chad simply seems to be blessed with unusual baseball longevity. And his legs, usually about the first choice to fall a ball player, still seem sound.

Many have marvelled at this. No so Dad Meek. A group of fans were discussing Chadbourne's legs during a game the other day. "They're a wonder to the legs," he said.

"Why, he hasn't used his legs much more than the average ball player," declared Meek.

"Hush, sh!" replied one of the group. "How long have been playing?"

"Yes, but watch how he plays," insisted Meek. "Chadbourne knows how to play the batter and is a wonder to the legs."

And sure enough in that game Chadbourne had four chances. In no case did he run more than ten or fifteen feet for the ball. In a dozen of batters he is considered the equal of Art Kruger, the old Portland outfielder, and Art had it down to an exact science.

Shine Scott is confident Grantham will last, but at the same time is preparing for contingencies. If Grantham breaks the Cubs will be in better position than the other team.

The big team problem, however, is undoubtedly Grantham is fast, a first hitter, a sure all-around player for the team. He is a wonder to the legs.

The team is that he must be too fast for second base. Many of the base players are ruined by overrunning the ball, unless they time it perfectly.

Jimmy Callahan is that he must be too fast for second base. Many of the base players are ruined by overrunning the ball, unless they time it perfectly.

Jimmy Callahan was an instance. Eddie Collins, his first year in baseball, was fast, but tamed down and timed perfectly. Ambie McConnell was ruined by going too fast to meet a ball and overplaying it.

Adams is fast and Hollieker is a better second baseman than he is a shortstop. Hollieker does not want to make a mistake, but will, for the good of the team, and will Adams at short and Hollieker at second the infield would be far above National League average.

Third base is practically settled. Fanning seems out of the finds of years, and the first base need is a wonder. Grimes is good, and Cotter promises to be even better. In fact, with a year's seasoning Cotter's speed will be the regular, if he fails this season. Grimes is older. There is a chance that Cotter may not hit as well in the big show as Grimes has done, but on the other hitting ability both will remain with the team.

The pitching, of course, always is a problem. An undeveloped staff offers a big problem. Killefer has two of the most promising left-handers in captivity in Hodges and Killefer, and Eddie Daniels, which is certain to stick ion second. With three left-handers, one with a tremendously fast curve ball, the pitching outfit is dangerous. There are no sure left-handers in the National, and even our great southpaws would cut a tremendous swath in the old organization, and two would make the difference between fourth place and third.

Of the right-handers, Alexander is still good for almost twenty-five games, starting perhaps half of them, and he should be fine in front of the team and rescueful in the latter. His opponent, and invaluable as a director and instructor of the young pitchers. The third character of the big team has held up to the team has much to do with the spirit of the club.

Chesee is ripe—certainly good for 60 per cent of the team's starts. Eddie Collins, in spite of his faltering under the high load imposed upon him last fall, will help the team. Osborne is very promising.

It is the spirit of this team that impresses one the most. A hustling, fighting, ambitious club. It will not be satisfied with anything short of a championship, and if not this year, then next or the next, for it is a ten-year team right now.

BRENNAN'S CONDITION IS STILL UNCHANGED

BY ERIC KRAMER
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
NICE, March 15.—A white-haired fox terrier owned by Preston Gibson, former Chicago society man and later of New York, rushed into a field during a chukker polo tournament, took the ball in his teeth, just after Winston Churchill had started out, exceedingly difficult shot and raced between the goal posts, scoring the only tally in the contest for the distinguished Englishman. The veteran British Empire was adequately at a loss as to what decision to make. The players were perplexed, but the crowd was delighted.

TRIALS OF GOLF CLUBS

Automobile driving and new golf club construction work are now free from many of the costly annoyances that used to be experienced, but there are some things which those planning new golf courses this spring might do well to have some knowledge of. I can best bring this out by giving an experience of a club near Chicago which barely escaped with its life some years ago.

This experience brings out in a remarkable way the near-sighted policies with which sometimes minute a village or community near which a golf course is located.

The club of which I speak was located about a mile from a little hamlet with a population of some fifteen seconds to a man in an automobile going fifteen miles an hour. The village board planned an assessment and these men caused surveys to be made for the golf course.

KING MAY PAY MEXICO VISIT

Alfonso Expected by People of Country

Beneficial Effect is Seen by Obregon

Official Vatican Relations Impossible

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, March 15.—Mexico will welcome a visit by King Alfonso of Spain, President Obregon declared today in an interview.

The President said that such a visit, which is considered likely to take place, would have a decidedly beneficial effect in strengthening the relations between Mexico and Spain.

Since the agrarian laws have been applied, they have presented a marked increase of Spanish visitors, and relations have been strained in effect, though officially.

President Obregon affirmed the monarch would be given an enthusiastic reception by the Mexican people. Continuation of policy encouraged the influx of foreign laborers.

He said that Mexico would extend every facility for the establishment of foreign colonies throughout the Republic provided the laborers came equipped properly with tools or with sufficient funds to acquire them. However, he said, Mexico has sufficient labor for its own needs, and it therefore would not be just or wise or in the national interest to favor foreign labor.

He confirmed the recent report that full amnesty had been accorded political offenders, enabling them to return to Mexico with full possession of their liberty.

VIEW ON CHURCH

The last question asked the President brought an unexpected reply. The President was asked regarding the present relations with the Vatican, and whether an apostolic delegate to replace Mgr. Filippi, recently expelled, would be welcomed to Mexico. President Obregon answered that there would be no instant official relations with the Vatican, but only those of courtesy.

The Mexican constitution, he indicated, prohibits any foreigners from holding posts of authority in the church here, and from priestly functions, and he said that he could accept a new Papal Nuncio only as a matter of official courtesy. The President said in his opinion it would be wise for the Vatican to assume a conciliatory attitude toward Mexico, and appoint a Mexican as apostolic delegate, in accord with constitutional principles.

It was stated expressly, however, that the government has no intention of attacking the church directly, and that no resentful persecution is being conducted against the Roman Catholic Church.

Transfer of Alaskan Oil Permit Upheld

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The Department of the Interior to day approved the assignment of a prospecting permit heretofore issued to J. W. Hubbell in the Gold Bay Petroleum Company, composed of Alaska

This is the third large oil company which has acquired interests in this field and insures the early and thorough exploration of it to determine what oil and gas exist in paying quantities.

TOKIO WORKERS AND POLICE HAVE CLASH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RADICALS AT RAIL STATION

BID CHIEFS FAREWELL; GET INTO TROUBLE

Now the Cork people will tell you with a smile that Mary MacSwiney's election to the Dail was the result of the fact that she could not be elected again, to even a minor office. Moreover, and more damaging to the cause she represents—Miss MacSwiney's election to the Dail was a double-edged sword. One hears her referred to now with a toss of the head or a shrug of the shoulders, as "Mary, the Mother of the Nation," or "The Mother Virgin," while a young Cork lad—ignorant of her Republican protestations—hailed her as "Mary, Queen of Cork." Everyone knows the fate of politicians when rid of their mistakes.

Likewise, Mrs. MacSwiney's followers in America seem to have their hands full with Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney, the Lord Mayor's widow. According to a letter written by Mrs. MacSwiney to the New York Times the last time that vestment lady was arrested, the Republicans in the United States would like to have Mrs. MacSwiney hustled back to Ireland "as a punishment," wrote Mrs. MacSwiney. "She has been causing as great worry. She is very hysterical and I fear for her an entire mental lapse." Such is the opinion of the MacSwiney ladies held by those who have known them long time.

By this time the workers' ranks were further augmented, and the more radical wanted to attack the station and liberate their captive colleagues. Wiser counsele, however, advised that the workers' strike left, after being promised that some intercession will be made with the police to release the workmen.

The fight started when the police attempted to grab the red flag that some of the workmen waved, and the crowd, who had been watching the train moved out of the station with the workers' leaders smiting approval. The police ultimately overpowered the workers and took several of them to the police station.

Is a Gland Operation Necessary?

By a new discovery the life giving gland substance which is sometimes administered by dispensary operations may now be supplied in tablet form. This treatment is highly recommended by European and American scientists, who have proved that the internal administration of gland extracts has a very marked effect upon the corresponding glands of the human body, often rebuilding them to normal activity.

Such a treatment is now offered to the public in the form of Glandogen, a highly concentrated glandular substance, in convenient tablet form, prepared from the glands of various young animals and compounded with other valuable ingredients. Glandogen is obtainable at the Blaney-Chambers Drug Stores, 9th and Spring and 5th and Los Angeles; Henderson-Chambers Drug Co., 3rd and Main; and Chambers Drug Co., 1st and Broadway. Mail orders given prompt attention.—[Advertisement.]

ANK OF ITALY BUILDING TURNED OVER TO THE PUBLIC

of Nation's Finest Banks Is Ready for Use

new one is added today to the architectural crown of Los Angeles. The Bank of Italy Building, designed by a committee of noted architects to be one of the most beautiful commercial structures ever erected in this city during the last 20 years, is ready for public inspection.

Building is located on the corner of Seventh and Flower Streets, and the reception room at 10 o'clock this morning, containing throughout today, the Bank officials, who are at the top of 250,000 persons who will take advantage of the opportunity to inspect at close range various rooms, and sometimes the many intricate and necessary to the efficient operation of a great financial institution. Everything from the vault door to the coin and safe claims will be open to inspection.

Building will be open for inspection Monday, March 17, through certain days, and will not be completed at that time. It is the part of wisdom to move the new building at once for the accommodation of the new president, Mr. Giannini, and other branch in Los Angeles at present so crowded that many people will be inconvenienced unless it is taken to relieve the pressure on the building.

A HISTORY OF THE BANK OF ITALY

organized in October, 1928, the Bank of Italy has progressed during the succeeding years, until today it ranks as one of the largest banks in the United States. Its ownership is 44,000 California whose confidence and support made possible its rapid development. The opening of the new building marks a epoch not only in the history of the bank but in the history of California in particular.

The Bank of Italy is the largest bank in the state, with over $10,000,000 in deposits. It has over 40,000 depositors, 550 employees, 55 branches, 550,000 in assets, and 550,000 in liabilities. It is the second largest bank in the country to have state-wide branch banking.

BROKER'S LIFE NO SINECURE

Requirements of His Job
Real Mentality Test

Specialists Play Important Roles on Change

Tragedy, Humor, Romance Go Hand in Hand

BY RICHARD SPILLANE
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

NEW YORK, March 15.—The floor member of a big stock exchange house wanted to know how far he traveled from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. executing his orders. The pedometer record showed twelve miles. When there is a boisterous market the New York Stock Exchange is bedlam. One thing certain is that the floor broker gets plenty of exercise. Maybe that's why he is the only one who gets away with it.

While more than 900 stocks are traded in on the exchange all the transactions are made at twenty-five posts; twenty in the big room and five in the little one. A carpeted floor is as smooth as ice and others so moribund that there is only a transaction once in a year or two. Practically the exchange has the same machinery as twenty years ago, although the business has increased greatly. Some of the machine groups from oversizing.

There are 1100 members, but the number regularly on the floor ranges from 500 to 600. Once standard stocks received most attention. Now, not infrequently, the comparatively new come command a goodly part of the day's transactions.

Specialists play an important role on the exchange. Figures in this branch are G. Clinton Miller, Shreve, Peabody, Fish, Herbert Butterfield, William E. Eustis, Taff, J. Loraine, Worden and Briggs Buchanan. Miller is a specialist in Union Pacific and Sinclair Oil, Williams in General Motors, Taff in Montgomery Ward, Clegg and Clegg, and Briggs, Worden and Harry Clegg, both of whom are old-timers, but still very active specialize in United States Steel, and Briggs Buchanan specializes in corn products. Warren Nash, son of the late president of the Corn Exchange, is the specialist in Central Leather.

Probably one of the biggest figures in the market today is Harry Content. His operations at times agree to the extent of 75,000 or 100,000 shares. Another specialist is Joseph J. Manning, son of Daniel Manning, long the close friend of Grover Cleveland. Typical of the old school is Jacob Field.

Specialists change at times. Ed Delafield and Dewas Dilworth, who were admitted in 1886, are out of business. Now the heads of the Fleischmann and California Petroleum issues.

Jay Carlisle was a sugar broker for twenty years. Now he is the head of a firm of odd-jobbers in sugar stocks.

Of the old boys of the exchange, J. H. Whithouse, who became a member in 1857 and John Amory, who was admitted in 1861, are out of business. Now the heads of the Fleischmann and California Petroleum issues.

The big stock exchange houses have from ten to twenty brokers at their disposal. When one of them wants his name appear on a disc in the telephone book, and this sign also appears on two sides of the large board room and at one end of the floor.

What makes a good floor broker? He must be a little curi right in the middle of her forehead, the stock broker of the exchange must be very, very good or he is horrid. Those who are subjected to judge say he is subjected to one of the greatest tests of memory and ability in the world. If he cannot deliver the goods he must step aside. He must have extraordinary quickness of perception, be accurate and have a wonderful good memory. He must be able to assess the market and make quick decisions and usually be right in so deciding. He may have to put through half a dozen big transactions in a minute or two to half a dozen different houses, and while he is in a little corner howling mob about a post and must remember with whom he dealt, the price and the number of shares, etc. This thing repeated many times a busy day makes up most of his day's work. And at all times he must keep cool and he will be swamped.

Floor brokers get so habituated to their work that they think it is easy. But it isn't and never can be. And it is a hard hold for today there are 300 per cent more stocks dealt in than there were twenty-five years ago, and the membership is the same.

One-half of the floor of the new building has been given over to board trading. Recently there has been a change in the system, so that now there is what is called an active crowd and an inactive. This has tended to improve the conditions in bond trading decidedly.

How do the men on the floor of the stock exchange measure up with those on the cotton exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade? Not so well, at least not in size.

On the stock exchange the men group around posts. They are on a level floor and move about as their business necessitates.

On the Chicago Board of Trade they assemble in pits, one for wheat, one for corn, one for provisions and one for dealing in oats, flour, cotton, etc. On the cotton exchange there is a pit somewhat like that of Chicago, but smaller.

In Chicago all business is done by floor brokers, very few firms having partners sitting the counter, in or out. Chicago certainly equals the New York exchange.

Sometimes the broker moralizes: "Our business is just one thing after another. Some of the transactions to which we are parties may be like life or death in the balance. It may be profit to one, disaster to another. We cannot know whether it has the dramatic content or not, but of one thing I am certain, our business reflects the world in its myriad forms more than does the stock exchange."

ALL SIGNS POINT TO BIG TRADE

Indications for Spring Rally in Bond Prices; Business Outlook Good

Moody's Weekly Review of Financial Conditions in its current issue says in part:

"All signs still point to an unusually active spring trade. In the money market the major influence appears to be generally rising prices and expanding inventories. It is a daily occurrence for us to answer inquiries as to how far ahead producers or merchants should contract for materials or goods. Unfilled contracts for steel, copper, zinc, some other materials are about 50 per cent greater than a year ago.

"Good public buying of new bond issues suggests that bond prices should enjoy a spring rally; those that would be in accordance with precedent are comfortable position of the money market. But bond prices are acting heavy. They are not sharing the strength of the stock market, which is a natural result of the fact that bonds are not as large as perhaps almost fill the public demand. A promising policy would be to dispose of long term low-yield bonds which one does not wish to hold permanently, but to wait for a spring rally. In the case of long-term income bonds, debentures and high-yield issues, which tend to move in sympathy with the stock market.

"Wool and woolen mills are very prosperous. Wool commodity prices are promises to show strength into the late spring. Wool usually goes down as share time approaches, but now it is going up, having risen twice as much here as in London during the past year. The price of the shares around the spring depends upon what the woolen goods trade is going to be next winter."

Stability and Yield

THE durability of an industrial investment is dependent upon stability and yield. The first mortgage 7% sinking fund gold bonds of the Van Camp Sea Food Company, Inc., are uncommonly attractive because the stability of the business is insured by a diversity of popular products, and because the yield is very liberal.

Textile Engineer Sees Great Future for Industry

Plenty of Labor; Other Local Factors Favorable

Rural Credits; Gas Company Bonds; Holland Land

With plenty of Mexican labor and a continuous influx of easterners among whom are skilled workers, the era of the unskilled laborer is confronting the establishment of the cotton-mill industry in Los Angeles is easily solvable.

This was the assertion made yesterday by M. H. Merrill of M. H. Merrill & Co., industrial engineers of Boston. Mr. Merrill has been connected with the textile industry as an engineer for number of years and has been called upon to consult with the organizers of the Los Angeles cotton mills, who are planning the erection of modern establishment.

Mr. Merrill is optimistic over the future of the textile industry in this city, and emphasizes that the absence of the perplexities that the New England and southern mill men had to meet in the infancy of their development is the factor that has quieted his best pessimism.

The industry, he says, is in a negligible factor in the development of the industry in Los Angeles.

Two important points are developed in the annual commodity study: one relating to the purchase of raw materials, the other to merchandising plans. The first is covered in the statement that the market is the dominant factor in the purchase of cotton and the second in commodity activity, rather than price advances, has been the dominating news element in the situation this month.

The first is covered in the statement that the market is the dominant factor in the purchase of cotton and the second in commodity activity, rather than price advances, has been the dominating news element in the situation this month.

The second point is covered in of "Rural Credits in the United States." Mr. Kerr says in part: "The rural credit bill, a component of several proposed measures of legislation, has focused the attention of the country upon this problem of agriculture and finance and the price collapse of 1926, due in large part to the lack of purchasing power in Europe for our surplus farm products, has been increasing discontent among the rural population. The formation in Congress of what is known as the Farm Bloc: The Rural Credits Act is in part a response to this agitation and discontent. From its inception, the bill has come in available water power in New England has been developed, steam power has been exploited to the limit and only the remote hydroelectric sites remain, and they are utilized by the paper and pulp mills.

The labor question in the mill states on the Atlantic Coast is acute, he said. "A variety of labor" is the stumbling block to understanding between the mill owners and the employees and there appears to be no means by which this difficulty can be removed.

In the South, the result of cotton having been the only major commodity and in addition, the problems of power and labor have also been contributory causes to slow progress. However, the southern mills have presented stiff competition to the established New England enterprises, particularly in the coarse cloth work.

Mr. Merrill can see none of the enumerated obstacles existing here, and is confident that the trend of the industry is toward the coast.

RURAL CREDITS

An amendment and expansion of the Rural Credit Act recently passed by Congress and other previous legislation designed to foster the development of the agricultural resources of the United States was last night signed by J. A. M. Kerr, vice-president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank in an address delivered to the San Bernardino County Bankers' Association at Redlands.

GENERAL AND REFUNDING

Mr. Kerr says in part: "The general and refunding bill, a component of several proposed measures of legislation, has focused the attention of the country upon this problem of agriculture and finance and the price collapse of 1926, due in large part to the lack of purchasing power in Europe for our surplus farm products, has been increasing discontent among the rural population. The formation in Congress of what is known as the Farm Bloc: The Rural Credits Act is in part a response to this agitation and discontent. From its inception, the bill has come in available water power in New England has been developed, steam power has been exploited to the limit and only the remote hydroelectric sites remain, and they are utilized by the paper and pulp mills.

The labor question in the mill states on the Atlantic Coast is acute, he said. "A variety of labor" is the stumbling block to understanding between the mill owners and the employees and there appears to be no means by which this difficulty can be removed.

In the South, the result of cotton having been the only major commodity and in addition, the problems of power and labor have also been contributory causes to slow progress. However, the southern mills have presented stiff competition to the established New England enterprises, particularly in the coarse cloth work.

Mr. Kerr can see none of the enumerated obstacles existing here, and is confident that the trend of the industry is toward the coast.

BOND QUOTATIONS

New Issues Absorbed
(By A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

NEW YORK, March 18.—Chief interest in today's bond market was centered on the outstanding announcement that the $400,000 offering of Treasury certificates of indebtedness had been heavily oversubscribed. The $7,500,000 First Lien & Unifying Company bonds were absorbed quickly. Listed bonds were irregularly within narrow limits in dealings on the New York Stock Exchange.

United States government bonds showed a tendency to sag, losses ranging from 4 to 16 cents on $100. The Victory 4 1/4s were up 4 cents. The French securities enjoyed a slight advance, particularly before the close. Mexican 4s dropped 1 1/4, and the 5s 1 3/4.

Industrial mortgages continued to be reactionary. Erie 4 1/2s were dropping 1 1/4 and St. Paul convertible 1s and Katy 5s and the adjustment was being down fractionally.

Cotton Railroad 7 1/2s and New Orleans 7 1/2s were up 1 cent.

Electric 7s were up 1 point, while

Puerto Rican Sugar 7s, off 3 1/2, and San Joaquin Oil 7s, California, were up 1 point, with the standatnding heavy spots. Total sales (par value) were $10,378,000.

Public offering at 59 1/4, to day at $4,500,000, was not offered at 5 1/2 per cent equipment trust certificates of the Denver and Rio

Grande Railroad Company. The offer is to be determined by the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Do You Know That—

Coated paper is not always the best paper for catalog printing. No paper will take a half-tone as well as coated, but it has two serious defects. The coating is composed of clay and glue and is easily damaged by water. Moreover, it is at best very fragile and soon succumbs to frequent handling. Therefore when the catalog is expected to have a long life it is often better to sacrifice some extent the half-tones and to print on a strong uncoated paper. But it must be remembered that when this is done, special half-tones should be made. They should not be finer than one hundred and thirty-three screen, they should be etched especially deep, and they should never be vigneted, nor should they be made with a raw edge.

Wheat Market Moved Within Narrow Range

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

CHICAGO, March 15.—Action of the wheat market was dominated by a large extent by local operations. A partial breaking of the wheat market in the early part of the month caused the market to drift around sideways. The market was lost toward the last, however, and final trade was at net losses of 14¢ to 16¢. Corn gained 1¢, oats, 1¢ 1/2 to 2¢; beans, 1¢ 1/2 to 2¢. There were purchases by eastern and western buyers in previous days, which checked the decline, but at 13¢ 1/2 it was free selling by commission houses on resting orders. Local sentiment was mixed, and while there was a fairly strong export demand, it had little influence on values. The pit was quiet, while whole showed a disposition to do nothing until the trend of values became more clearly defined.

Central and Eastern Kansas received more rains, but the rains did not reach the market. The market was quiet, but continued to drift, with the forecast for fair and warmer. Windy weather was poor with some sections, which tended to restrain business. Liverpool closed unchanged at 14¢ higher, and the market from abroad showed a better tendency.

A large amount of speculative liquidating of a line of wheat in the early trading and while it started May 10, the market developed a very firm underpinning and closed well toward the end of the month. The buying was mainly for short and was speculative in nature. The market was held under way at the outward and the basis on spot was 14¢ higher, with light offerings a factor.

Receipts held within Europe, India and other markets were quite good with each house showing some gains of the Mar. Shipping demand showed a slight improvement with receipts of 1,400,000 bushels, against 880,000 bushels last year.

It was shown a much better outcome, with Du-Yosemite National Park, Rutherford, Calif., yesterday when Mrs. C. Porter was arraigned on a charge of violating the Wright Act.

The detective, according to the story told by Mrs. Porter, is an International Protective Association. He is now the defendant in a suit for $17,000 damages which was filed against him by his temporary patient, who asserts her condition was greatly aggravated by his treatment.

Bishop is said to have gone to Mrs. Porter's rooming-house at 1223 South Main street some months ago to obtain evidence against her. He is said to have been arrested under the name of "Dr. Walker."

Some days later, Mrs. Jessie Ansteth, employed by Mrs. Porter as housekeeper, became ill. "Dr. Walker" is said to have been the patient, she asserted, and continued to play the part of a physician to avoid detection.

Mrs. Ansteth, according to testimony yesterday, became worse as a result of the treatments and was confined to her bed for several weeks.

Mrs. Porter was arrested yesterday by Detective Lieut. Mansey. She pleaded not guilty and her case was set for trial on the 28th instant. She had been accused of violating the Wright or Violated Act, but provided bail on each occasion.

NEW RECORD SET IN ROLL AT SCHOOLS

Month Roster Has 162,941 Names; Board Adds 172 Teachers

All enrollment records were shattered last month. Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, Superintendent of City Schools, announced yesterday when she submitted her monthly school attendance report to the Board of Education.

There were 251,716 more pupils enrolled during the month ending March 2, than during the corresponding month last year, the report stated. This is the largest increase ever recorded in Los Angeles. There were 147,441 pupils on the rolls during the month—the largest number in the history of Los Angeles—compared with 151,265 for last year. The average enrollment for the month was 231,364, as compared with 217,853 for the sixth month of school last year.

During the month 172 new teachers' positions were established, as follows: Fifty-five high school, 114 elementary and one kindergarten.

The contract for erecting the new assembly hall to the administration building of Jefferson High School, cost approximately $120,000, was awarded yesterday by the board to the Darrall Conley Company. J. H. Hobles was awarded the contract for building the Ziegfeld-avenue school, at a cost of approximately $80,000.

GIRL RESERVES HAVE ONLY MONTHLY PAPER

"PEPPERMINT" IS STARTED BY LOCAL Y.W.C.A. ORGANIZATION

The High School Girl Reserves of Los Angeles have started the edition of a monthly paper. They have named it the Peppermint and the following slogan appears under the title:

"A pessimist says it can't be done. An optimist goes and does it." The Girl Reserves are the "teen-age girls of the Y.W.C.A. and this movement is rapidly growing one, both nationally and internationally. The edition of the Peppermint marks but another step in the increasing strength and unity of the movement in this city."

Girl Reserves with their hikes, camping trips, conferences, discussions, service work and many other activities have a wealth of interesting material with which to fill to overflowing their new paper.

The staff of the paper includes the publicity chairman of each of the public high school clubs: Franklin, Jefferson, Polytechnic, Manual Arts, Los Angeles, University High, Eagle Rock and Santa Monica.

KILLING OF PATROLMAN DESCRIBED

Eye-witness Tells of Dimmire's Death at Hands of Prisoner

Newspaper description of the asserted murder of Patrolman Oliver Lissimore on Nov. 4, 1932, took up the afternoon in the trial of the man charged with killing the police officer.

Witnesses testified that the patrolman put Wolfgang to a stool, took two bottles of milk from a drawer and start to drink from one of them.

He said, "He shouted to Wolfgang, 'Stop and tell me who killed Dimmire.' Then, he testified, the patrolman put Wolfgang under arrest and the three of them went to Wolfgang's room to get some of his belongings.

He said, "They had gathered, to Wolfgang, to stop and called Patrolman Dimmire. Then, he testified, the patrolman put Wolfgang under arrest and the three of them went to Wolfgang's room to get some of his belongings.

Witnesses said that Wolfgang suddenly pulled a gun from a bureau drawer and fired at the patrolman. He said that Patrolman Dimmire was mortally wounded and died a short time later.

The trial is to be resumed to day.

Charge Lawyer Impersonated Federal Agent

Paul R. Hoffman, insurance man at Los Angeles Harbor, was placed under arrest last night on the charge of having impersonated an income-tax collector and of having taken money from numerous individuals. Hoffman is said to have collected income-tax payments for which he made out receipts signed with the name "Sesakow Cynamon."

There is Strength in Every Tablet of This Newer Form of Iron

One dose often helps to enrich your blood and give you the most exhausted nerves—it is never like iron to you like iron. It gives you blood and like the iron in spinach. It does not injure the teeth nor distract the stomach. It is ready to take in immediately. It is given to the blood while some physicians claim metallic salts take it up almost at all. If you are not strong enough to take it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work without having to stop. Next take two tablets of this form of iron three times per day, after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained.

NOTE—The manufacturers of this newer form of iron are the most reliable since its introduction it has reached the stupendous sale of over 100,000,000 tablets. It is easily digested and highly recommended by famous U.S. Members of Congress, Judges of U.S. Courts and by many physicians who say that if you do not obtain all the strength and energy you desire, you may be failing.

ROADS TO FORTUNE

Necessarily have a starting point. Some people seek the starting point by sitting in a chair—dreaming. Others go forth to chance to come across the elusive opportunity. Practically minded people know that when a business is for sale it is advertised, and that in Southern California nearly all roads to fortune—whether "fortune" means opulence or whether it means an assured living under agreeable conditions—have their starting point in the Business Chance columns of the Times.

TIMES WANT ADS

being attacked by the mob, and exhibited a bruised nose to prove it. He declared he had been struck several times and at one time in self-defense, aiming low, as not to kill. The extras demanded that he get his bruised nose from falling.

The extras left, and the noise attracted Officers O. D. Lewis, L. A. Brewer and Lieutenant Lane, who had not gone far. They arrested the guard and hustled him into a room to get away from the crowd.

SEND IN RIOT CALL

Then they were in a riot and Detective Lieuts. Murray and Gruey and several other officers hurried to the agency. When they arrived the two officers and their "priest" were getting decidedly nervous and the crowd was getting more and more threatening.

"There were no I.W.W.'s there," declared Lieutenant Lane. "The men were trying to collect $3 for shooting and boozing those in line and were trying to take tickets away from them, but there wasn't a Wobbly in the crowd."

It was said that with the agency's collection of 25 cents taken, the men would receive only $2.10 for their day's work.

Harry St. Alwyns, the manager, left the premises shortly after the disturbance, went to the bank, and had not returned at a late hour. Other officials, M. F. Ballerino, Charles Skiff, Perry Ferguson, Ross Lehman, the telephone operator, and Mrs. E. Hartman, were upstairs and knew little of the circumstances, other than that a "crowd of Bolsheviks had been inciting a riot."

Extras of various types and stations in life gathered in small crowds to discuss the excitement, but their thirst for blood had cooled as animosity, they said, toward the Bureau meant the death of "Blacklisters and no more jobs."

Police against Lane, however, had not responded. He was charged to have been "hard-boiled" on previous occasions.

In the City Jail, Lane decided that he had a self-defense plea, and arranged elaborate further to his side of the occurrence, assuming a gloomy air and retreating into his present license of the Service Bureau.

SPRIT OF REVOLT

For several months an underground of revolt against the Service Bureau has existed among thousands of film extras who through the premises for small bits of work, and paid by the hour.

Henry Magnin, who reached his height several weeks ago when dozens of extras testified before Deputy State Labor Commissioners Barker and Shive.

FORMER JURIST HELD AS INSANE

Wild Tales of Crime Keep Police Busy

Stories Found Imaginary on Investigation

Wife Swears to Complaint; Feared for Life

Reports of several murders said to have occurred during the early morning hours heaped a load of worry and work upon the police and ended with the detention of Robert Trimble, a wealthy attorney and formerly a judge in New York, on an insanity complaint yesterday.

Mr. Trimble, who has retired from his law practice, resides with his family at 2505 East Avenue. He walked into the University Police Station shortly before dawn and told them a tale of a uniformed patrolman on an drunken rampage in the Wilshire District. The second floor is to be a lobby, a library and a sun parlor, which also will serve as a ballroom. The mezzanine floor will contain billiard and card rooms. The third and fourth floors will be divided into sixty-two sleeping rooms, each of which is to be provided with a private bath.

Mr. Trimble next visited the Wilshire Police Station, where he told of seeing two intruders blow a gun and fire it. He declared he pursued the criminals, but when they turned and fired at him he abandoned the chase. After a thorough search the Wilshire police failed to find the two intruders.

Mr. Trimble's next port of call was at Central Police Station, where he told Detective Lieutenant Staten he had witnessed the slaying of two men and a woman by two burglars in a West Adams street mansion.

The officers searched Mr. Trimble and found a loaded revolver in his pocket. His wife, Mrs. Ethel Trimble, was notified and the informed the police that her husband was mentally unbalanced and had threatened her life on many occasions.

CHARGED WITH INSANITY

Fearing her mentally irresponsible husband might kill her, she had taken the explosive from the cartridges in his revolver and had replaced the lead pellets in the empty shells.

At the Receiving Hospital, where Mr. Trimble is being held, Mrs. Trimble swore to a complaint charging her husband with insanity. Her hearing before the Industrial Commission will be held next Monday morning.

Application has been made by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company to the United States Engineers' office at 725 Central Building for permission to lay two submarine cables from the breakwater to Catalina Island to Avalon.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow at Pierce Bros. & Co.'s chapel. Cremation at Rosedale Cemetery.

HERMOSA IS TO GET HUGE CLUBHOUSE

Building to Cost $350,000 to be Erected for Surf and Sand Club

A $350,000 clubhouse is to be erected at Hermosa Beach for the Surf and Sand Club, a recently formed social organization.

The property, purchased some time ago by the club as for the new building, fronts on both the ocean and the Strand, and comprises an entire block, 210 feet in width. The building is to be four stories in height, 85 feet in width and 150 feet deep. It will be of class A, reinforced concrete construction, finished in pressed brick and terra cotta.

On the first floor will be a large, artificially heated swimming pool, a grill, bowling alleys, dressing-rooms and lockers, and hairdressing parlors. The second floor is to be a lobby, a library and a sun parlor, which also will serve as a ballroom.

The mezzanine floor will contain billiard and card rooms. The third and fourth floors will be divided into sixty-two sleeping rooms, each of which is to be provided with a private bath.

At the time Stephens was granted probation he said to the court, "I'll never be brought into court again; you will never have a chance to send me to prison." This was on April 15, 1922.

Yesterday he was brought before the court for violation of his probation by defrauding a local newspaper out of $1000 and $200. The court reminded the defendant of his probation and granted the order granting probation and sentenced Stephens to San Quentin for from one to four years.

John R. Hartman, who pleaded guilty to robbing a car owned by his former employer, E. Christopher and driving it to Tijuana, Max., was sentenced to San Quentin for from one to ten years.

A Garden of Gold for Buyers Today

Our purpose; to create for Southern California the ideal residence park—one that will rival and excel in beauty the thousand acres of home parks we have developed for Northern California in Piedmont and the Lake District of Oakland—one that will make you money!

Grand Pre-Opening Sale Saturday and Sunday

Our first announcement to the people of Los Angeles!—

Coming from the San Francisco Bay region, where we have successfully developed twenty-one residence parks, we combed this section over to find the finest piece of undeveloped land that lay outdoors.

We found it!

In majestic beauty and as a money maker for our buyers, it exceeds our wildest hopes!

Two hundred acres in the heart of Glendale—an old estate—with palms, live oaks, magnolias, orange, olive, and lemon groves—like an enchanted garden in the midst of the city!

Only five blocks from the business center of the fastest growing city in America.

Being our first development in Southern California, we are absolutely determined to lavish on this magnificent property the fruit of twenty years' experience and make it absolutely the best.

No temporary buildings, duplexes, apartments or bungalow courts permitted—only single family dwellings costing $4000, $5000, $6000 and $7500—according to location.

High class street improvement with curbs and sidewalks free to purchasers, now being rushed to completion.

City water, gas, and electricity guaranteed to every lot.

Big lots—nearly all 50, 60 or 70 feet front, covered with orange, lemon, grapefruit, and forty year old olive trees.

Four schools within five blocks.

2 blocks from Pacific electric trains on Brand Boulevard, Glendale's main boulevard.

We want you buyers in our first tract in Southern California to make simply huge profits. We want to get started here right. Hence our prices are only about  $\frac{1}{2}$  of the figure justified by this wonderful property, our high class improvements, and the wild growth of Glendale. You practically make a 100% profit to start with.

BOLD KIDNAPING IS ATTEMPTED

Mexican Woman Seized on Burbank Street

Offered Work by Man Who Drives Her Away

Fights Off Assailant, but Money is Stolen

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, March 15.—One of the boldest abductions ever attempted in this section was that by an American man who accosted a Mexican woman on one of the prominent corners of this city at 10:30 o'clock this morning and, under the pretense of wanting her to work for him, who got into his car and took her to an old abandoned house by an olive grove, near the Catholic Gardens Home, known as Mother Cabrini's Preventorium about three miles out from this city on San Fernando Boulevard.

The woman is Mrs. Hernandez of this city, well known in Mexican circles here and respected. She had money with her and was on her way to town to pay light and water bills when she was approached.

On reaching the old house, the man attempted to assault her, but she was able to fight off her assailant, although she was badly bruised and suffered a severe nervous shock.

The police started in pursuit of the man, but searched for hours without finding any clues. Besides his attack upon the woman, the man robber of her $25.

Redlands Will Honor Its Own "St. Patrick's"

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, March 15.—March 17 is always a big day in Redlands, although there are no more sons of Erin here than in the average city. For March 17 was the birthday of the two patron saints of Redlands, Albert K. Smiley and Alfred H. Smiley, who gave to the city a library, parks and Redlands High. And today is the anniversary of the day when the two sons, which was the beloved flower of the two wonderful brothers.

The meetings of the two luncheon clubs of Redlands, the Kiwanis Club and Rotary Club, this week will commemorate the lives and works of the two Quaker gentlemen who found in Redlands the beauty they had sought all over the world, two quiet, spotless, school-teachers who wanted peace and happiness.

Daniel Smiley, half-brother, who now owns the estates they left here and at Lake Mohonk in the Adirondacks, was the guest of honor of both Kiwanis and the Rotary. Mr. Smiley is spending several months here as is his custom each year for he divides his time between Redlands and the hotel at Lake Mohonk.

LAMBS SHIPPED EAST

Thirty-five Carloads From Kings County Go to Chicago

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANFORD, March 15.—Six thousand spring lambs from Kings County were shipped today from Lethbridge Station and are to arrive at Chicago by special train next Tuesday, being only six days in transit. The thirty-five carloads of lambs were shipped by the Noble Sheep Company. The train which bears them East will run eastwardly for several more train loads sent out on special schedule time, within the next few days.

The lambs were all inspected by a Federal official and there were very few rejects.

Feeds on the plains have been unusually abundant this year and the winter mild resulting in an unusually large production of lambs.

LONG BEACH PLANNING ISOLATION HOSPITAL

PROPOSAL MADE IN FACE OF MANY DEMANDS BY DOCTORS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, March 15.—Immediate establishment of an isolation hospital for the city was proposed today by Acting Mayor Filmore Condit. He suggested that the city purchase a large home and move it to the city's eight-acre tract at Torrance Avenue. The residence, he said, would serve as an isolation hospital until a permanent structure is erected.

The proposal was made in the face of repeated demands by health authorities for an isolation institution. It has been pointed out that it is difficult to quarantine cases as the majority of people reside in apartments and flats, and the possibility of disease spreading is greater.

GIRL SCOUTS MEET

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, March 15.—The Pasadena Council of Girl Scouts, which recently was organized by eight prominent local women, today received its charter from the national organization. A celebration of the event will be held at the Pallery Ranch on Silver Way in the forest of Pasadena. Girl Scouts of South Pasadena, Alhambra, Monterey Park, Monrovia and Arcadia have been invited to attend.

Divorce Sought as Salve for Kicks, Bruises and Insults

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VENTURA, March 15.—August Gronau says he was kicked, knocked down, beaten up, and his family insulted. He says his wife did all that to him so he won't stay.

He wants the judge to fix it he won't have to go back where his wife is any more. His suit for divorce was filed here yesterday. He was married in Bonsu, Iowa, but is now a resident of this county.

MAYORALTY FIGHT ONLY WELL BEGUN

San Bernardino's Bitter Political Warfare is Hotter Since Primary Vote

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BAN BERNARDINO, March 15. What was thought in many quarters to have been the end of a bitter political fight appears today to have been but the first round of a contest that will be continued for several weeks.

At a primary election yesterday J. W. Oatrick led the present Mayor, S. W. McNabb by twenty-three votes. Today a score of attorneys have expressed the opinion that under the state election laws when the names of but two persons appear on a primary ballot, both must again be printed on ballots to be cast at the final election. If this opinion is found to be correct the same question which has agitated the city for weeks will form the issues to be fought over until the regular election in April.

The local plots have been established to ascertain more fundamental data and correlate local soil and climatic conditions with the disease and factors favoring its development.

The recreation center membership of which has been sold to the public, several women's clubs and various kinds, outdoor courts and shower baths and is open to Legion members at all times.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, who arrived with the Congressional delegation from Washington this afternoon, made the principal address.

Orange County Farmers Study Tomato Blight

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ORANGE, March 15.—The aid of the United States Department of Agriculture has been solicited by the Orange County Farm Bureau and local growers to conduct an investigation of Western Yellow Blight on tomatoes in this county with a view to controlling its spread.

The disease is said to be coming into prominence in Orange county because of its increasing damage to tomato plantings.

The cooperative arrangement has been made by a farm adviser with M. Shapovalov, plant pathologist of the division of plant industry, to establish experimental plots on two soil types in the county to determine the best control.

The disease is said to be coming into prominence in Orange county because of its increasing damage to tomato plantings.

The disease is not new, it was first noted in 1925 and is spreading rapidly, especially as an economic factor in production. It is found in practically all regions from Utah to British Columbia. The entire tomato industry is interested in the control project of the division of plant industry.

PORTERVILLE, March 15.—A "Public Improvement Luncheon" will take place in the Edison Club-rooms tomorrow under auspices of the Porterville Chamber of Commerce, in lieu of its monthly luncheon meeting.

Representatives of various civic organizations are expected to attend, and public improvements of the community will be discussed.

Among matters before the public eye at this time is the project of installing improved street lights in the business district. Petitions favoring the project are being circulated and general endorsement is being given the plan.

OFFICER RECOVERING

TULARE, March 15.—Constable J. D. Reed, who has been confined to the San Joaquin Hospital as a result of a gun wound received in a battle with bandits here on the night of the 1st, has been discharged and removed to his home.

An X-Ray picture of the wound was taken to determine the exact extent of Reed's injuries. The bandits escaped without leaving a clue to their identity.

SUNRISE SERVICES

VISALIA, March 15.—Easter sunrise services are to be conducted again this year on Venice Hill, seven miles east of Visalia, according to plans already announced by Visalia community service. Last year close to 500 people participated in the early morning service, and it is hoped to have an attendance this year considerably larger.

The Ministerial Union of Visalia will provide the program, with the assistance of the Visalia Choral Society and church choir.

Frank Mills of Modesto, has arrived in Visalia to become local manager for the Pacific Telephone &amp; Telegraph Company, relieving John Yarnell, who has been advanced to management at Modesto.

The change has already become effective. Mr. Mills has been with the Pacific Company for ten years.

CONDUCT SERVICES
FOR TULARE PIONEER

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

TULARE, March 15.—Mrs. Alice Roff of Point Richmond, formerly Miss Alice Talbot, daughter of the late Judge Talbot of this city and well known to pioneers of Tulare, was buried this afternoon in Tulare Cemetery. The funeral services were in Gobie's chapel. Mrs. Roff died Tuesday evening at her home following an illness of several years. She was unconscious for three days prior to her death. She leaves one brother, Will Talbot of Porterville.

TWO CHILD
RUNAWAYS
ARE HELDLittle Girls Find Night is Cold, So They Ask Food and Shelter

Two little girls ran away from home late yesterday afternoon in search for adventure.

Within three hours they unanimously agreed that they had succeeded in getting a good taste of excitement and thrills.

Yesterday morning Rachael Tucker, 11 years of age, and her companion, Marguerite Marmour, 10, a girl who had never seen the big world because they were not satisfied with the life at home.

So they packed their grips and put in all their pretty clothes and dolls and prepared to conquer the world.

They last night they had successfully eluded their parents and were well on their journey when they suddenly realized that the night was becoming chilly and that they were without provisions to sustain their coming.

They concluded to ask an old woman near Hillcrest and Los Feliz Boulevard to keep them over night. This was the undoing of the children's plan, because the woman called the Juvenile Hall and reported the case. Now the children are resting at the Juvenile Home under the care of Police-women Robbins awaiting the arrival of their parents.

FREDERICK WARDE
TELLS STAGE LIFEFAMOUS MISSION PLAY ACTOR IS GUEST OF HONOR AT COMMANDERY MEETING

Frederick Warde, famous for his characterization of Fra Juniperi Serra in the Mission Play, was the guest of honor and speaker of the evening at the meeting last night of Los Angeles Commandery of Knights Templar No. 9.

Mr. Warde spoke interestingly of his years of stage experience and of his friends, who may be the most noted actors of the American stage, from 1876 to the present. He commented especially on the tenuous line which, on the stage as in real life, separates the merging of one into the other. He gave many reminiscences, grave and gay, of his experience.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayer, with violin and harp selections, completed the program of the evening.

GAINS ANNOUNCED IN
Y.M.C.A. CAMPAIGN

Announcement of a gain of 226 new members toward the goal of 1400 new members set by the Y. M. C. A. in its present membership campaign was made last night at a meeting of seventy-seven crew captains and campaign workers in the Central Y. M. C. A. Auditorium, 733 South Hope street. Speakers at the meeting were Dan H. Jones of the General Properties Company and Clayton R. Rogers.

INCREASE IN CRIME NOT
ALARMINGComments on Situation
Are Made in Announcing
New Auto Squadrons

While crime is increasing in Los Angeles, the situation is not alarming in view of the rapid increase in the city's population. Sheriff Traeger said last night, in announcing the addition of four new flying squadrons to the number already in existence. The squadrons are to be in fast automobiles, patrolling the streets from early evening until morning.

Three squadrons have been added to those on duty from 5 p.m. to 1 a.m., composed of the following deputy sheriffs: A. C. Patterson, H. E. Helm, C. G. Paton, H. E. Purrier, R. H. Johnson and one more to be selected. They will use Essex machines.

A new squadron is on duty from 1 a.m. to 5 a.m. composed of Deputy Sheriffs C. C. Cooper and King Collins, with Chester Powell as chauffeur. They will use a Hudson car previously in the service of another squadron. Two new Cadillacs have been purchased as replacement for the regulars.

Police in Raid
Arrest Ten on Gaming Charge

A valiant attempt to get rid of the "evidence" failed last night at 167 Griffith avenue, when the purity squad, headed by Edent Massey, broke down the doors and placed ten men under arrest on charges of violating the Eighteenth Amendment and carrying unregistered weapons. Shoes Ferman, unregistered proprietor, is held on a Wright Act and vagrancy charge, and may face the charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors by lodging against him.

When the officers entered, the men in the room hurled dice and other gambling paraphernalia out of the window, directly into the hands of Officer Lyons, who was on the sidewalk.

It is said that Ferman ran a regular stage line from the vicinity of the Hippodrome Theater to his place, providing transportation to set out to woo the goddess of luck.

Ferman has a wife and four minor children, who lived at the house, and it is because of them that the charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors may be lodged against him.

Arrest Made at Long Beach in War on OdorsBy a "Times" Staff Correspondent
LONG BEACH, March 15.—Definite action to rid the harbor district in this city of obnoxious odors produced by the manufacture of by-products from fish canneries was indicated tonight when the 14000-ton City Council, police officers arrested Ben Nicholson, 20 years of age, foreman of the night crew at the West Coast Canning Company, Ocean avenue and 14th street.

The City Council passed a zoning ordinance last year, giving the cannery eight months in which to take steps to eliminate the odor from their by-product plants. The time limit has expired and as the odor is becoming increasingly manifest, according to residents, the city has determined to act.

The arrest of Nicholson will provide a test case on which further action will be based. Nicholson will be arraigned in Police Court tomorrow at 2 p.m.

American People Have Nothing to Fear

"Participation of United States in foreign affairs is nothing new nor is it to be feared, for ever since 1894 when the Barbary pirates were crushed by this country we have been involved in international affairs," said Harold J. Stonier, Executive Secretary of the University of Southern California, who was the speaker of the evening at the sixth annual banquet of the Los Angeles Optimists' Club given at the Alexandria last night.

Stonier said of the events in which America has participated in international affairs to straighten out disputes and aid the weak.

"The action of the United States in the Boxer Rebellion stands out as one of the most noteworthy and admirable deeds of this government," continued Mr. Stonier, "and in returning the indemnity received to China for use in educating the younger generation of Chinamen in this country, the whole history of China has been changed."

President Harding's action in half disarmament and the International Court should be supported by the whole country, declared Stonier, who said the former movement was much to do with aiding the return to normal conditions both in this country and in Europe.

Other speakers were Hemer H. Smith, president of the Club, H. E. Smock, Master, and Dr. J. W. Wilson, Brothman Music and solo was given during the banquet which was followed by dancing.

ATTACKS HIS EX-PARTNER
WITH KNIFEMan Said to Have Buried
Huge Weapon in Back of Restaurant Keeper

Using a huge butcher knife to avenge an asserted insult, Ignacio Joaquin is said to have buried it yesterday in the back of his former partner, Joaquin Allue, proprietor of a restaurant at 516 Temple street. At the Receiving Hospital Dr. Dunsmore declared that Allue probably would die.

Joaquin escaped from the restaurant, where the stabbing took place, after a struggle with Allue, in which he cut his hand badly on the butcher knife, which Mrs. Allue had pulled from the wound. But a crowd which had gathered outside, surrounded him and took him to the police.

Mrs. Yetta Kilmann, a neighbor, told the police she was in the restaurant kitchen when Joaquin entered. Allue was cooking and his wife was working. Without saying a word, she declared, Joaquin seized the knife and plunged it into Allue's back.

Screaming, Mrs. Allue ran to her husband, plucked the knife from Joaquin with it, Mrs. Kilmann said. Joaquin grasped the blade and managed to elude her and reach the door.

Joaquin, the police say, readily admitted his wrongs. He declared he had Allue had a quarrel in which his former partner had called him vile names.

PREMIUM IS EXPECTED ON CITY BONDSBids on First Block of Sewer and Fire Issue to be Opened April 16

The City Council will receive and open sealed bids for the first block of sewer bonds and for the $2,500,000 of fire bonds on April 16, at 10:30 a.m. The desirability of Los Angeles city bonds is widely recognized, and it is expected that par and a high premium will be offered for the blocks on sale. Two million dollars worth of sewer bonds will be offered, of a total issue of $12,000,000.

The proceeds from the sale of the fire bonds, authorized last November, will be used for construction of a new power plant, part of a large system of later type for fourteen new fire houses in sections of the city which have none at present, and a new headquarters building on Hill street.

The proceeds from the sale of the sewer bonds will be used for construction of a screening plant at the beach, and for a one-mile pipe line out to sea, the latter for the removal of the sewage.

Construction of the outfall line, which will consume the major part of the $12,000,000 bond issue, will be started after these units are finished.

FUNERAL ARRANGED

Funeral of Mrs. Martha Kuhn
Conducted Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Martha Kuhn, pioneer Los Angeles resident and widely known in fraternal and philanthropic circles, who died yesterday morning after an illness of more than six months, will be conducted at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the Los Angeles Cemetery.

Rev. J. M. Schaefer, pastor of the Pico Heights Congregational Church, of which Mrs. Kuhn was a member, will officiate at the service.

Mrs. Kuhn was 65 years of age, for approximately thirty-five years, coming here from Detroit. Her death occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Kuhn, 2025 Kunklehead, 1687 South Berendo street. She was a member of the Ladies of the Macabees, and had been engaged in philanthropic and fraternal work for many years.

DECLARING DISPATCH

NEW YORK, March 16.—In a Lenten message this afternoon, declared to allow men and women to meet together for a time and then take legal sanction to separate and new alliances as often as they please.

The topic of the bishop was "The Life of Easy Divorce to Our Life Nation."

It is worthy of notice that those seek a breakdown and destroy the institutions of marriage and the family," remarked Bishop.

WOULD CHANGE LAWS

Manning declared that the legal church should change the law so that one could be married at her altar, who had died or wife living, which is the law of the Roman Catholic church.

At present the Episcopal church has a canon forbidding one cleric to marry at the marriage of a man or woman, whose wife or husband living.

It is the innocent party in a marriage, individually, and then the lawyer has given him a right and one year has elapsed.

We must not think it hard and sympathetic spirit of the human sufferings connected with this, but the other hand, not to allow our feelings.
